A group inventory is like a Step 4 for the group, and a group conscience is like a Step 11 for the group. These are both done in ways that allow all the people in the group to share their ideas.

In this workshop you will learn from AA members experience with this process.

STEP NINE “Made direct amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others.”

Above all, we should try to be absolutely sure that we are not delaying because we are afraid. For the readiness to take the full consequences of our past acts, and to take responsibility for the well-being of others at the same time, is the very spirit of Step Nine.

TRADITION NINE “A.A., as such, ought never be organized, but we may create service boards or committees directly responsible to those they serve.”

CONCEPT NINE Good service leadership at all levels is indispensable for our future functioning and safety. Primary world service leadership, once exercised by the founders, must necessarily be assumed by the trustees.

He Nearly Drank Himself into A Siberian Salt Mine
Remembering Ben W.
By Tom W.

It was around 9:30 PM New Year’s Eve 1952 during the height of the cold war. A 21-year-old Georgia boy, a US Air Force air traffic controller stationed in West Berlin, went out on the town with a buddy. Berlin was a divided city in those days. The Russians controlled one part. The US led Allies the other parts. That night the young airman was in his full-dress uniform and overcoat because it was extremely cold. It was also raining and snowing. He had been drinking heavily most of the day and, as happened almost every time since he had started drinking as a teenager, he blacked out.

Around 3am the following morning, he came out of the blackout riding in an open-air jeep dressed only in a pair of coveralls with no underwear and no shoes. He asked the jeep driver what was going on, and was told that the Russians found him lying in a canal in the Russian sector of the city and for some reason that was never explained they brought him to the Brandenburg gate which was the checkpoint between east and west Berlin and turned him over to the U-S Army.

Later that day after sleeping and changing into a fresh uniform, the airman was confronted by his sergeant who promptly collected his pass so he could no longer leave the base. The sergeant told him, “You are the luckiest man alive. First of all, if you hadn’t been pickled in alcohol you would have died in that canal. Second of all, you should be on a plane right now heading to the salt mines of Siberia!” Despite the sergeant’s admonishment, the young airman had a lot more drinking to do and many more scrapes to survive.

Finally, six years later, back in the US, Air Force veteran, Ben W., hit bottom here in Jacksonville. A judge ordered him released early from jail but his sisters refused to take him in and would not even give him 5 dollars. Homeless and broke, Ben walked up the steps of an AA clubhouse at 111 East Bay Street on March 21, 1958. He never drank again. He died sober July 16 at age 89. He had 63 years of sobriety

Ben was an AA pioneer who with Paul and Maggie L. founded Alco house, Jacksonville’s first half-way house.

From his earliest years in recovery, Ben carried the message into Florida’s prisons. In an interview with Charlie M. in 2012, Ben described one of his most memorable prison experiences. He said in 1971 he was the only one allowed to take meetings into the maximum-security wing at Raiford. However, at Christmas time that year, an exception was made and he was permitted to bring other AA members in for a party. His wife Christine and daughter Sherry were there as were Paul and Maggie and a fourth woman named Lorain. Ben called the party a privilege and said, “I still feel a sense of serenity when I remember that party.”

In that same interview, Ben said, “I talk to God every day, morning, noon and night and sometimes in between. I give God credit for me being alive and for my sobriety.” As for a spiritual experience, he recalled being at an AA convention in Miami. Anita Bryant was singing “How Great Thou Art.” He said, “And when she hit that high note that she always put in at the end, and she could really hit it, I heard the loudest clap of thunder I ever heard just as she hit that high note. You could really hear the rain start,” outside the convention center. “I had cold chills up and down my spine. We were in the presence of God. I will never forget that.”

In recent years, Ben texted his friends daily one liners of wisdom, some spiritual some just common sense. Here are some examples.

1. “Like a wounded oyster man must heal his broken shell with pearl.” Ralph WALDO EMERSON
2. “God alone is the place of peace that cannot be disturbed—and he will not withhold himself from your love unless you withhold your love from him.” St. Augustine (Ben Loved St. Augustine)
3. And just recently, this: “The reason I am old and wise is because God protected me when I was young and stupid.” Anonymous

RIP Ben W. December 1, 1931 - July 16, 2021
